The objective of the Landscape Design Consultants' Council is education and service. Consultants are encouraged to attend educational refresher courses, share their knowledge with the general public, serve on community committees, panels and boards. In addition, the Council works in close cooperation with National Garden Clubs, Inc. to promote Landscape Design Study Courses open to garden club members and the general public.

During the next two years this council as well as Environmental and Gardening Study Councils are looking to forge a Tri Council which will include a Tri Council Newsletter. The first Newsletter was passed out at State Convention this year. It is hoped that since the three councils have overlapping concerns and interests we will become a stronger group to better serve FFGC and its members.

This council will continue to support Habitat for Humanity Landscaping Projects as well as participate in the National Garden Week plantings that will go on for Habitat that week.

“Unsolicited” awards for plantings in the public sector are awarded to nominations in four categories: small business, public facilities, private facilities and private residences. These nominations are point scored by panels of judges made up of members of the Consultants' Council:
