

Bees
Christy Linke
September 12, 2018

This Chairperson has been busy speaking on bees at garden clubs and even at a church social. Every chance I get I promote bees through education. Even in Tennessee where I go often this chairman went to The Knoxville Botanical Gardens and drew a crowd where bees were feeding on nectar plants, explaining to people there about native bees and how easy they are to have native bee houses. Even young children are amazed you can get so close to them without them stinging. If you can get them past the part where they've learned all bees sting and get them to see that not all bees want to sting that is the key to educating them on Naïve Bees.

Summary:

My goal is always and will be educating all ages the importance of bees and the role they play in our world.